1. Grant of Evaluation License. Avoka grants to the Licensee, during the time period described in Section 3 (the “Evaluation Period”), a nontransferable, nonexclusive right to use one (1) copy of the Evaluation version of the Software (the “Evaluation Version”) and Documentation during the Evaluation Period for the uses described in this Section 1. Licensee may use the Evaluation Version and the Documentation for the purpose of internal evaluation and testing for suitability for purchase of a Production License and to develop workflow systems or solutions, but may not use such systems or solutions developed using the Evaluation Version, or otherwise use the Evaluation Version, in any computing environment which is processing data for on-going business operations (a “Production Environment”) during the Evaluation Period. Licensee assigns to Avoka all rights associated with any input or suggestions provided during the Evaluation Period by Licensee to Avoka concerning the Evaluation Version or Documentation.

2. Evaluation Period Procedures. At Avoka’s request, Licensee shall:

- a. timely complete questionnaires prepared by Avoka, and respond to inquiries from Avoka, relating to the Evaluation Version or the Documentation; and
- b. perform such other reasonable actions relating to the Evaluation Version or Documentation as Avoka may request.

3. Evaluation Period. Licensee understands, acknowledges, and agrees that the Evaluation Version provided during the Evaluation Period does not allow Licensee to use all of the Software’s functionality, nor is Avoka obligated to provide any technical support to Licensee during the Evaluation Period. The Evaluation Period shall begin upon delivery of the Evaluation Version to Licensee and shall continue until the earlier of (a) delivery to Licensee of license key information after payment by Licensee of applicable fees pertaining to the right to use the Software in a Production Environment in accordance with this License (a “Production License”); or (b) termination of this License during the Evaluation Period by either party upon written notice. If this License terminates, all of Licensee’s rights to use the Software, Evaluation Version, and Documentation shall terminate and Licensee will immediately return to Avoka the Software, Evaluation Version and Documentation, and any related materials at Licensee’s expense. LICENSEE WILL MAKE NO CLAIM AGAINST AVOKA, AND AVOKA SHALL HAVE NO LIABILITY, ARISING OUT OF ANY USE OF THE SOFTWARE, EVALUATION VERSION, OR DOCUMENTATION DURING THE EVALUATION PERIOD.

4. Grant of Production License to Software and Documentation. Upon payment of the applicable fees for a production license to the Software (the “Production Version”), Avoka grants to Licensee a nontransferable, nonexclusive license to use the Software and Documentation solely to develop, test, and use workflow systems or solutions using Adobe LiveCycle software in a Production Environment. Licensee may make one (1) copy of the Software and Documentation for archive or disaster recovery purposes. communicated to License in writing. Except for those rights specifically set forth in this License, Avoka reserves all rights to the Software and the Documentation.

5. Grant of Production Annual Subscription License to Software and Documentation. Upon payment of the applicable annual fees for a production license to the Software (the “Production Version”), Avoka grants to Licensee a nontransferable, nonexclusive license to use the Software and Documentation, for the duration of the subscription period, solely to develop, test, and use workflow systems or solutions using Adobe LiveCycle software in a Production Environment. Specifically, if Licensee has purchased only a single-CPU license to the Adobe LiveCycle software, Licensee represents that Licensee has purchased from Avoka a single CPU license (referred to by Avoka as a “Single CPU License”), enabling Licensee to use the Software on a single server with a single CPU operating the Adobe LiveCycle software. If Licensee has purchased a multi-CPU license to the Adobe LiveCycle software, Licensee represents that Licensee has purchased from Avoka a corresponding multi-CPU license, enabling Licensee to use the Software on a multi-CPU server operating version of the Adobe LiveCycle software.
